7. What is the purpose and how does the legislatively directed spending item provide a public benefit that is an appropriate use of taxpayer money?

Funding will support and strengthen existing statewide programming and resources through the Michigan Global Talent Initiative (MGTI). Through seven strategic initiatives, the Michigan Global Talent Initiative was designed to add 100,000 to 125,000 college-educated immigrants to the Michigan workforce by 2030, focusing on: attracting and retaining high-skilled New Americans, international students, and entrepreneurs to Michigan while leveraging their skills, degrees, and experience; training and/or credentialing new residents and those already here; and placing this skilled and credentialed workforce with Michigan employers to fill unmet talent needs, establishing Michigan as a center for prosperity. The Michigan Global Talent Initiative aligns with the State's Sixty by 30 workforce development initiative, set forth by Governor Whitmer in 2019, to solve Michigan's talent needs. The Governor set an ambitious goal that 60% of the Michigan workforce possess a college degree or professional credential by 2030. To reach that goal, accounting for the skill levels of Michigan residents aging in and out of the workforce, the state would need to add 450,000 skilled workers over the next 11 years. By adding 100,000 to 125,000 college-educated immigrants to the Michigan workforce through MGTI programming, global talent will account for roughly 25% of the talent needed to meet the state's ambitious goal and would nearly double the growth rate of skilled immigrant attraction and retention. Census data from 2024 documents immigration's enormous contribution to meeting Michigan workforce and talent needs. Not only is immigration responsible for all of Michigan's net population growth over the past half decade, but an analysis by Global Detroit of the 2024 Census numbers suggests that Michigan has added 54,674 college educated immigrants to its workforce since 2019. MGTI was premised on the notion that a Do-Nothing Strategy would likely add 65,000 more college educated immigrant workers to the Michigan economy based on 2011-2018 immigration trends. By adding 54,674 college-educated workers to the Michigan economy, MGTI is on pace to add over 120,000 college-educated immigrants by 2030 or more than 25% of the total talent needed. MGTI is supported by the Michigan Global Talent Coalition, a statewide coalition of 25 leading business, industry and economic development organizations including Business Leaders of Michigan, Detroit Regional Chamber, Grand Rapids Chamber, Traverse Connect, Invest UP, Midland Business Alliance, Small Business Association of Michigan and several other similar organizations. MGTI is staffed by Global Detroit and works with more than 50 university, community college, workforce development, national nonprofit, chamber of commerce, local economic development and private sector partners. MGTI includes the nation's largest international student retention program, investment in community colleges, skilled immigrant integration programs, contextualized ESL programs, as well as innovative programs to support immigrant-led high-tech startup programs.
